SAYS THREATS TO LIFE CAUSED BOY TO PLEAD GUILTY

Lawyer Who Defended Dwyer in the First Trial Testifies

South Paris, Maine, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The lawyer who defended Paul N. Dwyer, 19, on a charge of strangling Dr. James G. Littlefield, testified today that Dwyer pleaded guilty in fear of his own life and that of his mother.

E. Walker Abbott, who represented Dwyer, told a superior court jury trying Francis M. Carroll on the same charge, that on the third day of Dwyer's trial last November, the youth told him he "had to plead guilty."

"My life has been threatened," he quoted Dwyer as saying. "My mother has been threatened, and I've got to get out of here."

Abbott said Dwyer told him Carroll had made the threats. Two weeks before that trial, at which Dwyer pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment, Abbott said Dwyer told him a story "substantially the same as that trial."

Double Charges

In nearly three days of testimony last week, Dwyer charged not only Dr. Littlefield's slaying but that of his wife, Lydia Littlefield, 63, to the stolid, 43-year-old Carroll, father of Dwyer's erstwhile sweetheart, Barbara Carroll, 18.

Dwyer previously had confessed strangling Mrs. Littlefield as well as the doctor.

Carroll, said Abbott, was the officer on guard while Paul told him what Dwyer now contends is "the true story" about the slayings.

The same night, Abbott added, Dwyer called him to his cell and told him "not to believe the story he had told me that afternoon."

Abbott said he never was actually alone with Dwyer.

Earlier, Sheriff Fernando F. Carlier testified he first heard Dwyer's accusation against Carroll the day Dwyer was sentenced to life imprisonment for slaying the doctor.

The state has alleged that Dr. Littlefield's knowledge of Carroll's alleged violation of his daughter was the reason for the slaying.

Galena Aviator is Fatally Injured

Jason Burkholder, a native of Lanark, and manager of the airports at Savanna and Galena, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon, when his plane crashed at Spring Bay, Wis., his death occurring Sunday morning at 8 o'clock at a Madison, Wis., hospital. Mr. Burkholder was operating his plane over southern Wisconsin towns advertising an air show which was to have been held today at the Savanna airport, and in some manner, the controls of the plane are believed to have jammed.

The plane side slipped, the left wing hitting the ground in a forced landing and the pilot was badly injured and his ship was almost demolished as it struck the ground.

He was rushed to a hospital at Madison where his death occurred at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Telegraph Carriers To Be Entertained In Chicago 2 Days

Forty-five of the Dixon Evening Telegraph carrier-salesmen, will spend Wednesday and Thursday in Chicago as guests of this paper, as a reward for outstanding accomplishments in a recent subscription contest among the carriers. They will stay at the Atlantic hotel, will visit the Brookfield zoo, the municipal airport, the Field museum and the Shedd aquarium; will enjoy a trip through the Chicago Tribune's big plant, will attend a broadcast at radio station WGN and will witness the Chicago White Sox-Detroit Tigers baseball game on the final afternoon of their visit.

Study Disease for Causes of 6 Deaths

Detroit, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Bacteriological tests were being made in Detroit today to determine whether the death of a girl here Sunday was caused by Shiga dysentery, believed responsible for six recent deaths in Owosso.

The latest victim was Mary Ruth Conrad, six months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Conrad of Saginaw. The family was visiting in Detroit. The baby became suddenly ill, was taken to receiving hospital and died in two hours.

"Crate" Back

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—That "crate" got back today the one Douglas Corrigan flew to Ireland with a teacup of gasoline and a grin—and frankly, it didn't look like much.

It was in the No. 2 hold of the S. S. Lehigh, of the Oriole Line, benefit of its wings and lashed down so no harm could come to it.

On the Hudson river pier, where the Lehigh tied up, a few curious spectators and a half dozen policemen gathered for the unloading of the $900 airplane.

Waiting, too, were a couple of trucks to cart it to Roosevelt Field to be assembled. Corrigan will fly it Thursday just to be sure it is all right, Steve Reich, the flier's friend, supervised the unloading.

Corrigan, still wearing his old begrimed leather windbreaker, left his hotel at 10:40 for Newark where he was to board a commercial plane for a flight to Boston.

JAPAN REPORTS REPULSING THE SOVIET FORCES

Tokyo, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The foreign office said today that Soviet forces had been repulsed in a "heavy engagement" on the slopes of Changkufeng hill, disputed point on the Manchoukuoan-Siberian border.

Russian and Japanese forces were said to have clashed in bitter hand-to-hand fighting when the former rushed Japanese positions 200 yards from the summit of the mile-wide, four-mile-long almond-shaped heights.

This statement came shortly after one from the war office declaring there had been no hand-to-hand fighting during the week and denying reports from Moscow that Changkufeng had been recaptured by the Soviets.

Dispatches from Yuki, Korea, near the Siberian frontier, quoted Japanese army officials as conceding Soviet forces had driven a wedge to the banks of the Tumen river north of Changkufeng. Oscillating an undetermined number of Japanese troops.

The foreign office spokesman reviewed Soviet movements through Sunday, indicating intensive bombing in frequent air attacks. He said Keiko, Korea, near the mouth of the Tumen river, was attacked twice, but did not disclose the damage or casualties.

He also stated the Japanese retook a position near Suifuho where a dozen Soviet infantrymen were said to have crossed the frontier and started constructing fortifications.

Cathedral Proves No Haven For Many Killed in China

Canton, China, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Japanese aerial bombs, falling within 20 yards of the Catholic Cathedral, killed 39 persons today and wounded 50.

Government officials suffered heaviest in the air raid. At least 20 bombs struck them, churning steel and concrete into piles of debris.

Although a thorough investigation still was impossible, it was feared the raid would prove the most destructive of repeated Japanese air attacks.

Officials estimated the city-wide casualties as 121 dead or missing and 180 wounded.

The bombs burst among tightly-packed men, women and children who had taken shelter in what they regarded as a haven in the cathedral grounds when nine Japanese bombers roared over the city.

The area is marked clearly by a large French flag flying from the cathedral roof.

West Coast Unions Fight Dictatorship

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Officials of four CIO unions openly declared war in Los Angeles today against the "dictatorship" of Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader.

They voted to withdraw from Bridges' industrial union council and set up a Los Angeles trade union conference in opposition to the "Bridges-Communist axis."

Forty officials attended the week-end meeting that preceded the revolt. Herbert Wilson, of the United Rubber Workers, was elected chairman. The United Automobile Workers, United Shoe Workers and International Ladies Garment Workers unions were represented.

Freak Bolt

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Five bathers, injured by a freak lightning bolt that killed three others and stunned 15 in a crowd of 80,000 at Jacob's Park beach, remained in a hospital today for treatment.

The condition of two was serious.

The bolt struck yesterday out of a clearing sky and raced 300 yards along the thronged beach front, throwing thousands of bathers into a panic.

MEXICAN REPLY TO UNCLE SAM'S STRONG MUSTARD

President of Neighbor Re- public Striking and and Strange Man

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer.

New York, Aug. 8.—Any satisfactory adjustment of the grave issues involved in the Mexican expropriation of oil holdings and lands belonging to the nationals of America and other foreign countries hangs on the character of one strange and striking personality—President Lázaro Cardenas.

Mexico's chief executive is an Indian. And he possesses to a marked degree the unswerving adherence to purpose which is characteristic of his race. It would take much to make him change his mind, once he had decided on a course.

Cardenas is an idealist who is credited with being passionately devoted to social reforms for the benefit of the masses, from whom he himself springs. The vast expropriations (which, by the way, involve domestic as well as foreign properties) are directed to this goal.

Born in Poverty.

The 43-year-old president, a son of the soil, was born in poverty. Out of this fact has grown his overpowering desire to aid the impoverished people of his country.

One of the planks of his platform called for grants of farming land to landless peasants. There were many vast estates running to scores of thousands of acres, some owned by rich Mexicans and some by Americans and other foreigners.

Cardenas reached for these, ignoring the violent protests of the owners. Since he took office in December, 1934, for a six-year term, he has expropriated more than 30,000,000 acres which he has divided among the peasants.

But the matter didn't stop there, so far as it concerned the United States and other nations. One of Cardenas' cardinal tenets calls for the "greater distribution of the profits of labor to labor." In order to implement this policy, laws were passed to give the government wide powers.

Accused of Contempt.

Cardenas invoked the law to strike at the seventeen American and British oil companies operating in Mexico, and took over their $400,000,000 properties. They were accused of being in contempt of the supreme court for refusing to accept an arbitral verdict greatly benefitting labor.

Vigorous protests from the British government resulted in severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries. America took a firm but more moderate stand, the substance of which is that Mexico's right to expropriate is not questioned, but that expropriation should be accompanied by just compensation forthwith.

The latest Mexican reply to Washington's protests is pretty strong mustard. In effect Cardenas says he will pay it and when he can.

Dixonite Fined in Sterling Last Eve

(Telegraph Special Service)
Sterling, Aug. 8.—Alex Howard, Dixon, route 1, was fined $5 and costs here last night, for failure to observe a stop sign on the Lincoln Highway, following an accident which involved three cars.

Howard was arrested by a state highway officer who was called to the scene of the crash which occurred about 11:15 last night just west of Sterling.

According to the report Howard failed to bring his car to a stop as he drove onto the highway, and struck a machine driven by Kenneth Robertson, Sterling, route 4. The latter attempted to avoid the collision and his car struck a machine operated by Miss Pasqualina Rapagnani, of Davenport, in which her mother, Mrs. Rapagnani, aged 53, was a passenger. The latter suffered a fractured jaw and was removed to the Sterling hospital where the injury was dressed. All three cars were damaged.

DIED IN LOS ANGELES
Mrs. Ed Franks, 715 Third street, this morning received notice of the sudden death in Los Angeles Saturday of Arthur Huggins, only son of Sam Huggins, for years a successful businessman in Dement-town. The deceased, whose funeral will be held in Los Angeles, was born and raised in Dixon, was a veteran of the World War and is survived by his father, his widow, and a son and a daughter, twins.

Inventor

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—From a long-unopened safe, investigators today removed evidence that Abraham Lincoln tried, 89 years ago, to patent an invention for assisting steamboats through shallow river waters.

The safe, once the property of the United States Patent Office but now owned by Crosby Gaige and Douglas C. Hertz, was opened by Locksmith Charles Courtney.

Inside, in addition to several models of inventions by others, was a printed application for a patent, filed March 10, 1849, and signed A. Lincoln, Springfield, Ill.

Lincoln's idea was that river boats should be fitted with pontoons which, filled with compressed air, would lift the vessel "over bars or through shallow water without discharging their cargo."

The annual picnic of the Lee County Supervisors' Social organization was held Sunday at the city park at Amboy with about 150 in attendance. A sumptuous picnic dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour, the committee in charge serving ice cream and lemonade. The afternoon was spent in a social way, the event being the best held since the organization was perfected two years ago.

MEET POSTPONED.
Because of the inclemency of the weather, the annual swimming meet of Boy Scout troop, No. 89 has been continued until a date to be announced later. The meet was to have been held this evening at the Atkinson pool. Members of the drum and bugle corps of the troop, as well as the drill team group are urged to attend a meeting to be held at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening in the parlors of the Christian church. At this meeting the drill team will be selected and will start training under the guidance of Captain Lloyd Lewis.

TWO FIRE CALLS
An automobile belonging to a party of Chicagoans, who spent Sunday fishing west of the Illinois Central bridge on Page Drive in Borden park, caught fire Sunday evening about 8:15 as the fishermen were preparing to return home. The fire department was summoned but before the blaze was extinguished, the car was badly damaged and was hauled to a local garage. While the firemen were answering the call, a second alarm was received and the community truck went to the Mrs. W. C. Durkes residence, 722 East Fellows street where crossed wiring in a radio caused slight damage to the radio.

THREEFOLD WIN IS HOPED FOR BY NEW DEALERS

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The indicated Kentucky victory of Senator Leader Alben W. Barkley increased the hopes of administration lieutenants today for a three-fold triumph in tomorrow's senatorial primaries.

Democratic Senators Robert Bulkley of Ohio, Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, and James P. Pope of Idaho will be up for renomination as loyal Roosevelt backers.

Senator Pope's race against Representative D. Worth Clark, however, may bring the only clear-cut test of administration policies. Pope, who helped write the crop control act, has not opposed any Roosevelt measures, while Clark as a self-styled conservative voted against the government reorganization bill and various other White House proposals.

In Arkansas, Representative John McClellan told a rally yesterday he is as loyal to the President as is Mrs. Caraway, whom he is opposing. The only woman senator, completing her seventh year in office, was greeted by Roosevelt last month as an "old friend."

Former Gov. George White of Ohio, like Senator Bulkley, has campaigned as a Roosevelt supporter, but it was Bulkley who received kind words from the President.

Ohio's Republican senatorial contest between Robert Taft and Arthur J. Day also has aroused widespread interest. So has the campaign of Democratic Gov. Martin L. Davey for a third term against Charles Sawxer, national committeeman.

Prepare For Work Of Wrecking Bridge

A large gang of Illinois Northern Utilities company linemen assembled Sunday morning at 4 o'clock at the south end of the old Galena avenue bridge, and as soon as there was sufficient daylight, started the task of moving all transmission lines which span Galena avenue on River street. Temporary poles had been set last week and all equipment was in readiness for changing over the high power transmission lines. The crews worked continuously until about noon when they completed moving the lines without an interruption of service.

The changing of the transmission lines was necessary before work could be started by the Shappert Construction Company on dismantling the old bridge. While it was expected that work would be started on the bridge late last week, the contractor is now awaiting the arrival of equipment from Belvidere to begin operations.

Disastrous Fires Sweep Philippines

Manila, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two disastrous fires swept widely-separated sections of the Philippine Islands today, leaving thousands homeless and causing damage estimated at $1,150,000.

In San Pablo, Laguna province, 15 blocks of modern buildings were destroyed. Five hundred dwellings, mostly the property of wealthy persons, were burned and officials estimated the homeless at 6,000.

In addition to the dwellings, the flames consumed the municipal building, the city market, and several business buildings. No one was injured.

In the Tondo slum district of Manila fire swept through 16 blocks, destroying 2,000 native huts and leaving 12,000 persons homeless. Many suffered minor injuries.

BARKLEY WINNER OVER GOVERNOR IN KY. PRIMARY

Chandler Conceded De- feat in Telegram Pledging Help

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Kentucky resumed counting ballots in Saturday's primary today with Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley holding a decisive lead over Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler for renomination.

Returns from 3,647 of the state's 4,313 precincts gave 244,681 votes for Barkley and 198,462 for Chandler.

Five Democratic and one republican Representatives were leading in their races. Three others, all Democrats, were without opposition.

On the basis of returns, Barkley will be opposed for election in November by John P. Haswell, Harbington attorney, who apparently won the Republican nomination.

At his home in Paducah last night Barkley predicted his majority would be "between 60,000 and 70,000. At the same time he told newsmen he knew of "no coercion" of Federal employees to vote for him. The Senate campaign expenditure committee charged political use of public funds in the campaign, which it termed "deplorable."

Dr. J. W. Bryan, Louisville physician who said Chandler's recent illness was due to poisoning, was served with an ordinance warrant charging violation of a city ordinance which requires a physician attending the victim of a gunshot wound or poisoning to report the case to the chief of police within two hours. He was summoned to appear in Ordinance court, which meets Thursday.

PROMISES SUPPORT
Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Governor A. B. Chandler today conceded the senatorial nomination to Senator Alben W. Barkley.

In a congratulatory telegram to Barkley, the governor said: "I have no excuses, alibis or regrets."

Chandler promised Barkley his "active" support in the November general election.

The text of the Chandler telegram to Barkley:

"Senator Alben W. Barkley, Paducah, Kentucky:

"The returns from Saturday's primary election, while not yet complete, indicate your renomination to the Senate by a safe majority. President Roosevelt said he desired your return and a majority of Kentucky Democrats agreed to return you. I bow to the will of the majority of my fellow citizens. I have no excuses, alibis or regrets. As the Democratic nominee you will have my active support in the November election and I wish you a successful term in the Senate.

Cordially Yours,
Alban B. Chandler.
"Governor of Kentucky."

WIFE PLACES BLAME

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. A. B. Chandler, wife of Kentucky's governor, today in an interview, blamed her husband's defeat in Saturday's senatorial primary on what she said was Federal money spent in Kentucky.

"Happy's defeat was caused by the $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 of Federal funds spent or promised in the campaign," she said.

The state's first lady expressed a wish the governor "would get out of politics."

"You know you can't make any money in politics, especially when you're a psychopathic case of honesty like Happy is," she added.

Boy Scouts Board Of Review Tuesday

A Board of Review for Dixon Boy Scouts will be held at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce building. Reviews will be conducted for Second and first class rank, all merit badge subjects and also for star and life candidates. This board of review is to take the place of the one that was to have been conducted the last week of July and will be followed by another one the last Tuesday of August.

Plans are being made for a Court of Honor to be held in the early part of September at which time awards will be made for every rank from second class to eagle.

CHILD INJURED

Donald, year-and-a-half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Alter of 1102 Galena ave., suffered a severe gash in the head which required several stitches to close, when he was knocked down by an auto driven by Frank Swank, in the driveway at the Alter residence Saturday afternoon. The driver of the car, held blameless, took the injured boy in to the house after the accident and assisted to the extent of his ability.

Humidity

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—High humidity added to the discomfort of the August heat wave in Illinois today.

Although the temperature in Chicago at 10 A. M. C.S.T. was only 77 degrees, a humidity of 97 per cent—within three per cent of the saturation point—made the air sticky and oppressive. Humidity throughout the state ranged from 75 to 87 per cent.

Forecaster J. R. Downs predicted somewhat warmer weather for the north portion of the state tomorrow, with no relief in sight for at least 36 hours.

"A tropical air mass from the Gulf must be replaced by drier air from the west before we can have relief," he said.

KEWANEAN MET DEATH TODAY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—August Schultz, 72, Kewanee, was killed and his wife, daughter and a companion were injured seriously today when their automobile and a truck crashed at the southwest edge of the city.

Schultz died enroute to Ingalls Memorial hospital.

The injured:

Mrs. Ann Schultz, 72, fractured left wrist and lacerations of the head and face.

Miss Ann Schultz, 45, both legs fractured, cuts and bruises.

Otto Neubert, 55, broken hip, dislocated knee and lacerations.

Bruno Bladowasi, driver of the truck, was uninjured. He was ordered to appear at an inquest at 9:30 A. M. tomorrow. Police reported the car, traveling east on 159th street, crashed into the truck which was midway across the intersection with Western avenue.

Police said the truck had stopped for a traffic sign and had started across the intersection when the automobile, with Neubert driving, crashed into it.

The car struck between the wheels of the truck and "nosed under," its engine pushed back by the impact.

The injured were struck by flying glass, but were not thrown from the car.

Wife of Alleged Slayer Summoned

Vandalia, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Governor Ross Carson said today he would subpoena the 65-year-old wife of Richard Snow, prominent farmer, to testify tonight at the inquest into the fatal shooting of Dale Fraley, 24, Snow's former farmhand.

Snow remained in the county jail, but no charge had been filed against him, Carson said. Fraley, in a deathbed statement, asserted Snow shot him after accusing him of being friendly with Snow's wife. The shooting occurred the night of July 30.

W. P. Welker, Snow's counsel, said the farmer would not testify. Mrs. Snow was the only other eye-witness.

The inquest was previously scheduled for the night of Aug. 1, but was continued, Carson said "certain witnesses" did not appear.

Fred Hammerstrom Died Last Evening

Fred C. Hammerstrom, retired mail carrier who served 33 years in the Dixon post office, passed away at midnight at the family home. He had been ill but a short time and had reached the age of 64 years. He is survived by his wife, Hazel, a daughter, Dorothy, and two sons, Richard and Robert, all at home; one brother, Albert, of Madison, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Zoeller of Chicago and Mrs. Erie Anger of Paw Paw, Mich. Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 520 Ottawa avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. James A. Barnett, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating and interment will be in Oakwood.

Lindberghs Fly to Lympe from Paris

Lympe, England, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh landed at Lympe airport at 12:40 P. M. (5:40 A. M. C.S.T.) today on a flight from Le Bourget airport, Paris.

The flier and his wife passed through the customs immediately after landing and then proceeded to Reading where the colonel's airplane was built.

It was understood he would have certain repairs and alterations on the plane made there.

An Argument

Kewanee, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—M. G. Palmer, a salesman of golf hazard insurance, today had a good argument to use on prospects. Competing in the Kewanee city open golf tournament yesterday, Palmer was struck in the mouth by a brassie shot which ruined a set of $150 artificial teeth.

GRIM COURAGE OF NELSONITE PROVED FUTILE

Hiel E. Ford, 43, Died in Hospital Here at Mid- night Hour

Hiel E. Ford, 43-year-old Nelson township farmer and life-long resident of Lee county died this morning at 12:45 at the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, his death resulting from a rare infection known to the medical profession as gas gangrene. His passing terminated a valiant fight after several blood transfusions had been given.

Saturday afternoon about 3:30, Mr. Ford was operating a tractor in a field, when he stopped the machine to remove weeds which had clogged the connection between the tractor and combine. He wore knee length leather boots and the lace of the right boot caught in the mechanism, drawing his foot, then the leg into the connection. The boot was torn to shreds and the leg was torn loose between the knee and the hip.

Chapter One

A Riviera Blonde

"Archie," said Hugo Stern suddenly, "a blonde over there has her eye on you."

I sighed. "Do you mind?" I asked patiently, "being a trifle more explicit? This place is full of blondes."

"The one I mean is sitting thirty degrees right, at the corner table. Don't look around. She may be some old flame you'd rather not rekindle, or she may merely have a weakness for the Tarzan type of male, but she's definitely got her eye on you, and if you catch it she'll take it as an invitation."

"Not when she gets a clear sight of my face," I retorted, and I turned, ignoring his protest, balancing my gin fizz precariously on the arm of my chair and surveying the landscape. It was even as I had said. Far as the eye could reach, the open air terrace of the Carlton was coated with nothing but blondes, ranging from the ashy fairness of Scandinavia, through varying synthetic shades of peroxide, to the ripe-corn-color of the Germans.

Men were there too, swarthy as nature or sun-tan had made them the blue cotton shirt and trousers and dressed for the most part in the of the fishermen whose native coast they had invaded, but they were merely the necessary background to the ladies they escorted and those ladies were the very perfume essence of the Cote d'Azur. Like a gaudy flowerbed they sat there, laughing, chattering, drinking—blondes in bathing-suits, in bright-colored trousers, in gaily patterned beach-ropes.

To right and left of us towered the great white luxury hotels of the Cannes Crisette; the Malmaison, the Miramar, the Martinez; in front stretched the still whiter stucco balustrade of the terrace, and beyond that lay the blue Mediterranean, crowned with the shimmering, hazy valus of the midday August sky.

The blonde in question was sitting alone, at a small table in the shadow of a clipped bay tree, tipping a pinkish, frothy drink from a tall glass, a slender, long-limbed creature, dressed in white shorts and shirt, with a crimson sash folded about her slim waist, and a red chiffon handkerchief knotted on her crisp golden curls. The whole effect of her was of youth and grace and ease—only her eyes, dark and brooding, gave the lie to the picture; and those eyes, as Hugo had said, were fixed intently on me.

As I caught her gaze she smiled suddenly, with a flash of white teeth, and lifted a hand in greeting; but I looked away hurriedly. I was in Cannes for a couple of days, and that only to see Hugo, and I had no mind for any feminine entanglements that would cut short my time with him.

"I don't know her," I assured him, but he shook his head mournfully.

"You shouldn't have looked her way. There you are, she's coming over now and you'll find yourself stung for a cocktail and lunch before you know where you are. I know those Riviera blondes."

"N't lunch," I retorted, "but she can have her cocktail. She may be a gold-digger," I added thoughtfully, "but she's extraordinarily easy to look at."

Hugo shook his head again. "Cut out the cocktail too," he said firmly. "She may be easy to look at, but I haven't seen you these two years and why should I lose my pleasure to give a girl a free drink? You leave me to handle her."

Hard-Hearted

I felt that he was being unnecessarily hard-hearted but I knew well, at the same time, that he had plenty of excuse. The French Riviera, these days, is swarming with authors of all sorts, shapes and sizes. Best sellers are there, and not-so-good sellers; but Hugo was that rare bird a thriller-writer with a world-wide circulation.

Apart from that, he was a handsome devil, a confirmed bachelor in his middle forties with a comfortable private income apart from his prodigious sales, so that it was no wonder he was a trifle cynical where women were concerned. He knew all the types and had been pursued by most of them; and, best of all, he knew the birds of paradise of the Riviera, for he had a villa outside Cannes where he spent half of the year that he wasn't exploring the queer corners of the world in search of adventure.

I looked at him now, at his dark, hawk-nosed face that might have been a Spanish grandee's if it hadn't been for the astonishing blue of the eyes, at his square jaw and massive shoulders, and thought, with a little regret, that the cynicism that had been at first only a preventive cloak was now becoming a part of him. Under his sleepy, good-natured manner there lay, I well knew, a will as hard as granite.

and I had a shrewd suspicion that there was now super-imposed on it a grim determination to consider only the comfort and well-being of one person, and that person Hugo Stern.

"As you will," I said, and sighed. "But let her down lightly, old man. After all, she's only a kid."

We both struggled to our feet, for the girl stood beside us. Seen near to, she was even prettier than at a distance. A bare twenty, I thought. She stood now looking from one to the other of us with a touch of uncertainty; but as I smiled in response, she gave a little sigh of relief and dropped into a vacant chair.

"Well, now!" she said, and her voice was a lovely thing, deep and husky and vibrant against the parrot chatter around us. "Isn't this nice? I thought it was you, and then I fancied I had made a mistake, and then I was sure I hadn't so I came over."

It was to me she spoke and I answered her, rather reluctantly. "It's undoubtedly me," I said guardedly conscious of Hugo's eye upon me, "and I suppose it's you, if you say so, but the question is—who are you?"

But at that Hugo broke in. "My dear young lady," he said, "it is our misfortune, but we neither of us know you; and I can assure you that it's not a case of defective memory for you're much too pretty to forget."

The girl flushed under the pale gold of her sun-tan. "But it wasn't you I was talking to," she pointed out. "It was him—" She turned to me, and now there was uncertainty, almost appeal in her voice. "Surely we've met some place before?"

I roused myself. I had been wondering what to make of her, of her almost childlike simplicity of manner, her youthful charm. The threadbare tactics she was using didn't tally at all with her appearance, and I was pretty sure she must be a novice at the game. Her accent, too, puzzled me. It was French, undoubtedly, but there was an overlay of American—an intonation, more than anything definite—and I had just about decided that she must be an artist's model who had learned her English from some American painter when I found that, for the second time, Hugo was answering for me.

Childhood Friends

"No, no," said he. He leaned his brawny, sun-tanned arms on the table, and now the good-natured smile was fading, hardening into something cold and implacable. "You'll have to forgive us, mademoiselle, but you're barking up the wrong tree."

She caught her breath sharply, fiercely indignant, and then suddenly the shadowed look left her eyes and they became as dancing and mischievous as a little girl's. "Ladies don't bark up trees," she retorted. "They sit on a branch, waiting to be barked at."

Hugo shouted with laughter at that. "Young woman, you win. It's definitely established that we're childhood friends. Let's drink to our former meeting—and our next." He hailed a passing waiter and invited her order, and she laughed back at him, gay now and carefree. "Let's see, where was it we saw each other last?" said she. "Was it Paris? Or Deauville? Or Le Touquet?"

And then suddenly, even as I watched her, a dreadful change came over her face. Her glance had strayed over my shoulder, and now for an instant it remained transfixed. The dark eyes widened, staring and haunted, the warm color drained from her cheeks. She gasped and put her hand to her heart.

"I'm sorry," she said, very low, "I can't wait for the drink I must go. Tell me"—she laid a hand swiftly on my arm—"you're staying here? What your name?"

"Archibald Lumsden," I told her. "Yes, I'll be here for a day or two, but what's the trouble? Why can't you wait?"

"It's nothing," she answered, but even as she spoke, her eyes were roving this way and that, like a hunted animal. She repeated my name softly, under her breath, as if memorizing it, and stood up. "Thank you," she said. "You've been kind. I won't forget it."

The golden curls and the raffish crimson turban vanished, and I turned to Hugo.

"And that's that," I commented rather ruefully. "What d'you make of her? I presume on closer inspection she wasn't so taken with our looks."

He shook his head, pulling thoughtfully at his aged brier. "It wasn't that," he said at last, "but it was the oddest thing I ever saw. She spotted something or somebody that she didn't like, and quit in a hurry, but what it was I've no idea, and what to make of her I can't tell. Did you notice the queer accent? Half of it was put on, I'll swear."

"The French half was genuine enough," said I. He shook his head again. "No," he said decidedly. "It was the French half that was fake, and besides, did you ever see a French woman built like that? Those long, slender limbs, the delicate articulation of the feet and hands? No, no, my young friend, they don't breed 'em like that this side of the Channel. It's my job to notice such things, and you can take my word for it, she was an American, and finely bred at that, pretending to be a nationally she didn't own, and playing a game she didn't know. And what's more—" He hesitated, and his eyes, somber now and worried, met mine. "—And what's more," he finished, "she was desperately afraid."

Mrs. Ralston and Daughters Occupy Nantucket House

Early August finds Mrs. John G. Ralston and her daughters of "Reynolds Wood" occupying "Driftwood," described by a Chicago Tribune writer as "one of the show places on the harbor side of Brant Point, Nantucket, Mass."

The Chicago writer further states that the past week-end found Nantucket harbor a veritable forest of masts, as hundreds of boats ranging from the tiny "rainbows," to majestic steam yachts were gathered for the annual Nantucket Yacht club regatta.

The large and colorful fleet of visiting yachts included trim racing craft, commodious houseboats, speedy cruisers, and sturdy deep water yawls and schooners, and represented a host of yacht clubs from all along the New England and middle Atlantic coast.

The races yesterday afternoon brought to a close a program of events which had a record number of entries and was considered the most successful in years. While the sleek-hulled racing boats were far out on Nantucket sound, adding another chapter to island yachting history, those who stayed on shore watched the first interclub tennis match between the women's teams of the Yacht club and the Seonset casino.

High light of the week-end social program was the regatta ball on Friday evening, at which members of the Nantucket club entertained the visiting skippers and their crews. Always the season's most brilliant dance, the ball was preceded by numerous dinner parties at island residences and on visiting yachts.

The yacht club is the center of Nantucket social life, and was founded in 1890. There members of the summer colony find facilities not only for yachting but for tennis, badminton, dancing, theatrical productions, table tennis, and other indoor sports. The club's harbor bar bears the picturesque name, "The Anchorage." Dinner-dances are held every Saturday evening and special dances for the juniors are given on Thursdays.

The Seonset casino is the center of Siasconset village social life, and is located nine miles from Nantucket at the eastern end of the island.

Vacationers are Continually on the Move as Early August Gets Underway

With the population still scattering here and there for summer holidays, it behooves one to look across the map to keep up with one's townfellows. The weekend found a number of Dixonites busy packing bags for August vacations, and a number of others were welcomed home after interesting and varied holiday experiences.

Heading out of town this morning, Dr. and Mrs. Warren G. Murray were bound for the northwoods in Minnesota for perhaps two weeks. During her parents' absence, Miss Jean Murray is having as her guest, Miss Delores Knowles of Peoria, whom she will accompany to Peoria during the coming week-end for a week's stay.

Local friends of the Carpenter sisters, former Dixonites, will be interested in knowing that the Misses Anna and Edna Carpenter of Brooklyn, N. Y. have joined their sisters, the Misses Emma and Charlotte, in Denver, Colo. where they have taken an apartment and expect to make their future home. The Misses Anna and Edna formerly taught in the art department of the New York City schools for a number of years.

Mrs. Robert Warner went to Chicago yesterday evening to meet her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who has been attending Bryn Ason camp near Rhineland, Wis., since early in July. They expected to return to Dixon some time today.

Mrs. Winston Edwards and her daughter, Patsy Alexander, are back from Lexington, Ky. They have been visiting relatives and friends in central Kentucky for the past month. Mrs. Edwards formerly resided in Franklin, Ky.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Auman, 518 East

Second street, included Mr. Auman's mother, Mrs. Mary Auman, of Kent, Ill., his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Auman of Orangeville, and his sister and niece, Mrs. Fred Franzmyer and daughter Lorraine of Galena. The Aumans' daughter, Miss Jewel, has just returned from a week's visit in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Mrs. Oscar Olson and sons of Scarsdale, N. Y. arrived today for a brief visit with Mrs. Olson's grandmother, Mrs. S. C. Burnham, of West Everett street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dunn and their daughters, Marianna and Jane, left this morning for their home in Newton, Iowa. They have been visiting since Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Bryant of 410 North Dement.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woy of Chadwick and Dewitt Stuart of New York City spent the week end at the Woy cottage at Assembly park.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Dyke of Princeton, formerly of Dixon, were visiting friends here on Sunday.

Arriving in Dixon on Saturday were Mrs. Elwood Naugle and son Teddy Lee of Billings, Mont., Mrs. Naugle's brother, Elwin Herler of Cody, Wyo., and Mr. Naugle's grandfather, John Naugle of Midland, Mich., who stopped for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, en route to Billings, after spending some time at Mr. Naugle's home in Midland.

The Wayne Smiths of 209 East Sixth returned home last evening, after a fortnight's vacation trip through the south and east. They were accompanied to Dixon by their son, William, who is on vacation from his work with the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y.

South Dakotans Hold Second Reunion; More Than 150 are Present

Their former homes in the "Sunshine" state was the common denominator of conversation at the second annual South Dakota reunion yesterday at Lawrence park. Between 150 and 200 guests attended, representing 50 families who once resided in the state, whose picturesque Black Hills section attracts hundreds of vacationists every year.

A delectable dinner menu was unpacked from picnic hampers at noon. During the afternoon, a short program was presented, including a reading by Mrs. Ben Eller, accordion and guitar selections by the Johnson sisters, a reading by little Miss Edna Gossel, a vocal duet, and group singing led by Lyle Wilcox.

Ben Eller of Rock Falls, who has been serving the association as vice president during the past year, was elected president. Other officers named were: Vice president, E. B. Harris, Rock Falls; secretary-treasurer, Miss Dolores Eller, Dixon.

Towns represented at the gathering included Dixon, Lexington, Normal, Chicago, Erie, Prophetstown, Tampico, Rock Falls, Sterling, Chadwick, and Madison, Wis. Those attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Earle Bastian and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Whites and family, and Miss Dolores and Lewis Eller.

Next year, the group will return to the same park, on the first Sunday in August, which has been chosen as the permanent meeting date.

PICNIC AT MADISON, WIS.

Three Dixon families spent Sunday in Madison, Wis., fishing and picnicking. Making up the party were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Newman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warren and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Enichen and family.

RETURN FROM FLORIDA VACATION

The Rev. Father and Mrs. B. Norman Burke returned Friday from a month's vacation stay in St. Petersburg, Florida. He was in charge of Sunday services at St. Luke's Episcopal church.

WILL ENTERTAIN AT GRAND DETOUR

Mrs. Z. Glatier is planning a breakfast party for Thursday morning. She will be entertaining at Grand Detour.

Former Dixonites Have Party in California

From the west coast comes news of a happy birthday gathering of former Dixonites on Sunday, July 31, at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stiteley and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hollenbeck, 1728 West 80th street, Los Angeles. A picnic lunch was served on the lawn, with Daisy Hartzell as a special guest.

A bouquet of raisins, and a miniature ship laden with cards from Dixonites and other friends, were the center decoration. While the guests were still seated at the tables, the cards were read by the honor guest and Mrs. Stiteley.

Later in the afternoon, Lee Menor entertained with an informal recital of vocal and instrumental numbers. Master Howard Stiteley Hollenbeck was among the youngest guests attending.

In the Dixon group were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stiteley, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hollenbeck, Howard Stiteley Hollenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zuhl, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Waterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Marr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. William Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wise, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Goodrich, Mrs. Ines Milton, R. H. Dial, Mrs. Bertha Boyer, Grace MacKnight, Mrs. George Atkins, Josephine Haight Herbert, Miss Susan Keppler, Lee Menor, Mrs. Mattie Grove, R. H. Rowland, Dr. M. Shenk, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hollenbeck.

WED IN CLINTON

Miss Evelyn Hardt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hardt of Rock Falls, and Lloyd Drew Wagner, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of 914 North Hennepin, were united in marriage Saturday at high noon at the parsonage of the Church of God in Clinton, Iowa. The Rev. C. A. Stewart officiated.

Miss Waunita Steele of Sterling and Herbert Stewart of Dixon attended the couple. Mrs. Hardt and Mrs. Wagner, mothers of the bride and groom, witnessed the ceremony.

The bride wore a bijou and rust frock with a corsage of yellow flowers.

The bridal party was entertained at luncheon at the home of the bridegroom's parents, and a wedding supper was served at the Hardt home in Rock Falls.

Mrs. Wagner was graduated from Rock Falls high school with the class of 1938. The bridegroom, a graduate of Dixon high school in 1936, is employed by the Dixon Distilled Water Ice Company. The couple have taken an apartment at 922 Galena avenue.

FIGELEY-ANDERSON NUPTIALS

Miss Maud Ellen Figeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Figeley of Rock Falls and James R. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Anderson of Polo, pledged nuptial vows Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Clinton, Iowa. The Rev. J. S. Leamer read the single ring ceremony at 1 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Price of Rock Falls, the bride's brother-in-law and sister, were the couple's only attendants.

The bride wore a frock of old rose silk with white accessories, and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Price chose blue taffeta with a corsage of rosebuds.

Mrs. Anderson formerly attended Rock Falls high school. The bridegroom was graduated from Polo high school with the class of 1935, and is employed by the Illinois Northern Utilities Company. The couple will reside in Sterling.

ENTERTAIN AT GRAND DETOUR

Mrs. Irving B. Potter and Mrs. Earl Auman were co-hostesses at dinner at Grand Detour on Friday evening, entertaining for Miss Ethel Ryan of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Mrs. Horace Street, Mrs. Lester Street, Miss Evelyn Street and Miss Jewel Auman.

Mrs. Lester Street, Miss Evelyn and Miss Ryan have returned from a fortnight's vacation, spent at "Shady Rest," ten miles out of Tomahawk, Wis. The trio also motored to Duluth and Port Arthur before returning home.

Miss Ryan, who is a member of the faculty at Coe college at Cedar Rapids, has been a guest in the street home.

ENTERTAINS DINNER GUESTS

Miss Ann Eustace was a dinner hostess of Sunday. She entertained at The Point on the Blackhawk trail.

Dixon Afternoon Unit Has Picnic

Women of the Dixon Afternoon Home Bureau unit entertained their families yesterday with a fried chicken dinner in Lowell park. Nearly 40 guests circled the picnic table.

Enjoying the outdoor dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schuck and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitebread, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller and family, Mrs. S. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wakeley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fritz and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Auman and family.

COUNTY PICNIC

War Mothers of the Lee County chapter have been invited to the country home of Mrs. Hannah Miller on rural route 3 for their annual picnic, Thursday. Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock.

DIXON UNIT WILL MEET

Members of Dixon unit, No. 12, American Legion Auxiliary, will meet on Wednesday evening in the Legion hall. The meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock.

Thursday Horner's Day at Camp Grant

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—U. S. Senator James Hamilton Lewis, speaking before 9,500 members of the Illinois National Guard and several thousand visitors at Camp Grant yesterday, declared the rest of the world was "amazed at the calm and tranquility of America."

Calling attention to strife abroad, he predicted in a short address that the United States would "remain calm and at peace with ourselves and our neighbor nations."

Preceding the talk by Lewis, the Guardsmen staged a huge military show which included tank and aerial maneuvers. Chicago's Black Horse troop added color to the show with a cavalry exhibition.

Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, commander of the 53rd cavalry brigade, directed the show, which will be duplicated Thursday—Governor's Day.

MOST SMOKERS WHO GROW TOBACCO SMOKE CAMELS. LIKE ME, THEY SEE CAMEL PAY TO GET THEIR BEST GRADES

Is there a real difference in the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes? "Yes"—say the men who live with tobacco—the planters. These men grade their crops long before the warehouse sales. They know who buys their best grades. "Camel," say the typical planters on this page.—"Camel buys our choicest lots!" So, for their own smoking, planters choose the cigarette that gets their choicest tobaccos—Camel! Yes, there is extra enjoyment in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Try Camels today! Compare them for their enjoyable taste, for their special mildness which permits steady smoking.

GROWER MARVIN HOLLOMAN speaks as an "insider" on tobacco quality. "Finer tobaccos make a big difference in smoking. Camel takes my real choice lots. So I smoke Camels. Most growers do."

TAXES, OUR NO. 1 PROBLEM

Just one hundred years ago a British cotton manufacturer published a book to warn his countrymen. He called it "England and America Contrasted, or the Evils of Taxation."

"It is utterly impossible," he wrote, "that we can compete with America under this immense burden of taxation." Britain could not hope to keep step with "America, where every stimulus is given to the energies of industry," and where a workman could subsist as well on three hours labor a day as he could in England on 12 hours. ("Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors!") With this tremendous advantage to the manufacturers and workmen of America, he predicted that the new country would become the richest and most prosperous in the world.

The Englishman's prophecy was fulfilled. America went on and up until she surpassed the Motherland in every index of the abundant life. We produced more and consumed more and "laid up" more than our cousins, the John Bulls. The commercial capital of the world was moved from London to New York. Our dollar became the standard of value.

Taxes, when the Britisher wrote, were taking from ten to 12 per cent of the gross national income of Great Britain, while here one-fourth that. At the close of the Great War Englishmen gave up 25 per cent of what they earned to the tax-gatherer. Ours grew from two per cent in 1850 to six per cent in 1900, to 12 per cent in 1914. Today it is 27 per cent, and if we were paying as we go, our expenses for government—state, federal and local—would require nearly one-third of the income of all of us.

Great Britain's tax burden today is around 20 per cent. For the first time since our federal government was set up, it is taking more from its citizens than the United Kingdom. There is much loose talk in comparing our tax burden with those of other countries. Mr. Harry Hopkins said cynically that "we don't know what it is to be taxed," but the record—"and don't let any one tell you different"—judged on any basis, per capita, cost of government, or income, proves the United States now has bigger and better taxes than "debt-ridden" England.

An American cotton manufacturer might write a book today warning his countrymen. For, while we are not certain of many things in this life, of this we are sure: When a nation expends the results of its labor in non-wealth producing enterprises through political agencies rather than in the development of new industries through the imagination and courage of its individual citizens, there can be no progress. Political spending makes for temporary employment of men; the other for continuous and increased employment of men.

Eighteen of the new industries developed here in the 50 years ending in 1930 employ today 9,000,000 men and women, nearly one-fourth of the total employed. The deflection of the people's savings from industrial ventures to political spending since 1930 has not added a single man or woman to a wealth-producing payroll. During this period there have been a million men and women, exclusive of those on relief, added to political pay rolls. But this employment is overhead, not income producing.

It is the fashion today to speak slightly of the founders of this government. It may be that our horse-and-buggy leaders were dumb, that they were just ordinary men. If that be so, they build better than they knew. For they gave us little government and little government expense, leaving with the people a large percentage of earnings which voluntarily adventured into a thousand fields, under the stimulation of enterprisers, who in turn were "given every stimulus."

Little government expense meant little government meddling by bureaucrats. Little government expense did not permit Congress to pass on its law-making job as by a Detroit assembly line, to bureaus, boards, commissions and authorities, all eager for more power—and more tax-money.

Our American manufacturer-author might paraphrase his British cousin of 100 years ago: America cannot hope to regain its industrial stride under the present immense burden of taxation.

REPUBLICANS FOR AL SMITH

Congressman Hamilton Fish, Republican, who represents President Roosevelt's Hyde Park district in the house of representatives, told members of the New York Republican committee that he favored making Al Smith the Republican nominee for the United States senate to fill the Cope-land vacancy.

Many republicans throughout the country will look with favor upon such a move, as an indication that they are willing to place their country above their party in this crisis.

Most of us are likely to look at such proposal as something fine for the people in some other state to do. We in Illinois can look with favor upon such a movement in New York, because it doesn't involve sacrifice of any of our ambitious politicians.

Certainly if the Republicans of New York could work out such a compromise, it would receive strong moral support throughout the country.

Washington.—After a long series of secret conferences, the Ford Motor Company has made its peace with the Justice Department regarding its alleged violation of the Anti-Trust laws.

This grew out of an indictment by a South Bend, Ind., federal grand jury on charges that the Big Three motor companies—Ford, General Motors and Chrysler—were violating the anti-monopoly laws by secretly controlling motor finance corporations. The suits were based on numerous complaints made to the government by independent dealers and finance companies that the Big Three forced them to finance through their own companies.

Following the indictments, Ford and Chrysler opened quiet negotiations with the Anti-Trust Division for an out-of-court settlement.

After several abortive attempts, Ford lawyers last week reached an agreement with the Division. The Justice Department agrees to dismiss the anti-monopoly suit. In return the Ford Company sets up a sort of code of fair-trade practice.

Details are being kept secret temporarily for two reasons: (1) because the government wants to submit the agreement to the complaining independents for their approval before officially announcing it; (2) because a similar settlement is in the works with Chrysler. The Justice Department hopes to be able to make both agreements public at the same time.

General Motors, in line with its general stiff-necked anti-administration attitude, so far has remained aloof from the peace negotiations.

Note.—Donald R. Richberg, one-time NRA boss and White House intimate, was a Ford representative in the peace negotiations and helped bring about a settlement.

Taft's Son

One Republican primary tomorrow which the New Deal is watching closely is the Ohio senatorial battle between Supreme Court Judge Arthur H. Day and the millionaire son of the late President Taft.

In contrast to his brother Charles Taft, Robert Alphonso Taft, the Ohio senatorial candidate, is a bitter enemy of the New Deal. He was the man who brought the Supreme Court suit testing out the gold content of the dollar. Brother Charles, on the other hand, was Landon's Brain Trustster, who wrote a book friendly to Roosevelt, and was uninvited to make a Lincoln Day address because he refused to damn the New Deal.

Despite Robert Taft's presidential lineage, Judge Day is the more colorful of the two men. The son of a country doctor, he worked his way up from hotel bell-hop to a notable record on the Ohio Supreme Court. He has been waging a poor man's campaign while Taft is reputed to have spent a quarter of a million dollars.

Judge Day was ahead until Taft unloosed the purse strings. Now it is an even break.

Don't Go to Alaska

A new "Don't" should be written down in Jim Farley's political notebook. It should read: "Don't go to Alaska during an election year."

For while the Postmaster General has been in the Klondike, the thing nearest and dearest to his heart has been as good as lost, namely Democratic control of New York state.

For five years Jim has been a dominating influence in the politics of that state. He spends only about two days a week in Washington, the rest of the time largely in New York. He has long nursed the ambition to be governor, but now that is out the window—all because he went to Alaska.

For while Jim was browsing through the northland, the American Labor Party made a deal with the Republicans—which probably means Democratic defeat.

Inside story of how this slipped through is typical of the present bungling within the Democratic party. It began before Jim departed, in fact before Senator Cope-land's death when the American Labor Party came to Jim and wanted to team up with the Democrats. All the Laborites wanted at that time was to name the lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket. They also proposed to run Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against Cope-land.

Farley, however, turned them down. He said that while Washington was interested in the Senator race, it could not interfere with the state ticket and help name the lieutenant governor. Obviously this was just stalling.

Post Mortem

After Cope-land's death, the Labor Party came back to the Democrats. This time all they wanted was one assemblyman. They already had six assemblymen, and in order to give their party the appearance of growing, they wanted seven.

But even this modest request was turned down. By this time Farley was in Alaska, and Tammany leaders could not get together. They said it was too late to remove any Tammany candidates from the Democratic ticket to make room for Laborites.

It was only after this final rebuff that the Labor Party went to the Republicans. Here they were welcomed with open arms. Instead of getting one assemblyman, they were promised 12 to 15 assemblymen, 6 senators, 3 judges, and 3 Congressmen.

And if Tom Dewey, gang-purging District Attorney, runs for Governor on the Republican ticket, the combination will be unbeatable. That is why so much persuasion is being used on Herbert Lehman to run again for Governor. He alone probably could beat Dewey.

Lehman's wife, however, wants him to be a Senator.

Mail Bag

Mrs. C. Q. N., Winterville, Ga.—The $4,000 contribution of Frank Walker, ex-head of the National Emergency Council to the Georgia primary campaign, is the result of his close friendship for President Roosevelt. The President is 100 per cent for the nomination of Lawrence S. Camp against Senator George and his friends are supporting him through campaign contributions. Frank Walker gave $40,000 to Roosevelt's personal campaign in 1932 long before he was nominated at Chicago and has continued to give ever since.

A. S., Boise, Idaho.—The State Department still continues to license arms shipments to Germany, though not in important quantities. During June, Germany purchased $3,788 worth of revolvers and a number of airplane parts. C. T., Anderson, S. C.—The appointment of Edward J. Noble, head of the Life Saver Company, as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, if anything, has boosted the consumption of his candy.

H. J., Petersburg, Va.—Colgate Darden, newly nominated Democratic Congressman from Norfolk, Va., is not only anti-New Deal but connected by marriage with the Liberty Leaguers. His wife is a duPont.

MAJOR PARTIES IN OHIO SPLIT ON PRIMARY EVE

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Ohio today approached the "zero hour" of tomorrow's primary with its two major political parties split wide open by factional differences.

Gruesome contests between Robert A. Taft, former state Senator, and Supreme Court Judge Arthur H. Day for the U. S. Republican senatorial nomination and between Gov. Martin L. Davey and former Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination precipitated the intra-party ruptures.

Both "family fights" attracted national attention because of the sensational charges they produced. General political interest outside of Ohio, however, lay in the friendly race between Sen. Robert J. Bulkley and former Gov. George White for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Bulkley bore President Roosevelt's endorsement.

An estimated record 1,450,000 vote was expected. The voters were to nominate congressmen, a number of whom faced fights on the New Deal issue; state officers, and some county officers.

Taft's and Day's campaign expenditures were being scrutinized by the Senate campaign expenditures investigating committee. Day charged that Taft sought to "buy" the nomination through "tremendous campaign" expenditures.

Taft, son of former President William Howard Taft, denied he had spent lavishly and asserted Day's "mud slinging" campaign tactics were tending to "ruin" the party.

"New Frontier" of Education Subject

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—"Education's new frontier" was the consideration of some 40 delegates to the mid-west conference on adult education meeting here this week.

Outstanding education leaders from all parts of the middle west were to take part in the program of lectures, seminars and demonstrations sponsored by the Adult Education Council of Chicago and the American Association for Adult Education.

Phases of adult education to be considered at the conference which opened yesterday included: Parent education, Civilian Conservation Corps, churches, workers, public schools, libraries and recreation.

Tomatoes first were grown in tropical America. It was centuries after the plant was introduced in Europe that it reached North America, and was considered safe to eat.

HUNDREDS PAID TRIBUTE TO JOE FIFER AT RITES

Funeral of Ex-Governor of Illinois Held at Bloomington Today

Editor's Note.—The late "Private Joe Fifer, whose death Saturday was noted in the Telegraph of that evening, was a very close friend of the late B. F. Shaw, for many years publisher and editor of The Telegraph.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Hundreds of friends of former Governor Joseph W. Fifer gathered today to attend the funeral of the Grand Old Man of Illinois politics who died Saturday at the age of 97.

The body of Governor Fifer, known popularly as "Private Joe," lay in state on a flag-draped bier at the Unitarian church before the funeral this afternoon.

Here to attend the services conducted by Rev. Rudolph Gilbert were former Governors Frank O. Lowden of Oregon and Louis L. Emerson of Mt. Vernon. They, together with Governor Horner and other state dignitaries, were named honorary pallbearers.

The active pallbearers, all Bloomington men, were: Earl Bach, Edward Barry, Carl Behr, Hudson Burr, George K. Foster, Eugene L. Hiser, Julius Klemm and James T. Riley.

Legion Honor Guard

An American Legion guard of honor was delegated for rites in the church and at Park Hill cemetery. Squads of state and city police formed part of the cortege.

The story of how Joseph W. Fifer acquired the name "Private Joe" and was thereby elected governor of Illinois 50 years ago was recounted today as men from younger generations gathered for his funeral.

Fifer had been an "elder statesman," the most prominent Illinois survivor of the Civil War and the last link with the high officialdom of the reconstruction period.

"Private Joe" his mourners recalled, was the first foot soldier to break the political monopoly held by the generals and colonels after the Civil War.

A national row over veterans' pensions enabled him to do it.

Almost Killed

Fifer's brother, who was killed in action, was a first lieutenant, but Private Joe never rose from the ranks. He served under Grant at the siege of Vicksburg, but soon afterward, near Jackson, Miss., he was shot in the right lung and liver. That interrupted his military career and almost killed him, although he returned to the colors as a guard on a ship transporting Confederate prisoners.

After the war, Fifer worked his way through Illinois Wesleyan, became a lawyer and served a term in the state Senate.

An active member of the Grand Army of the Republic, Fifer was drawing a $24 monthly pension because of his wound, recalled A. L. Bowen of Springfield, state director of public welfare, who had been one of the former governor's close friends.

President Grover Cleveland, who opposed high pensions, had appointed General John C. Black of Danville as commissioner of pensions.

The pensions issue held the center of attention at Washington. Black singled out Fifer as an example of a veteran allegedly drawing excessive and unneeded governmental funds.

G. A. R. Wanted Joe

A national sensation developed. Fifer retorted that General Black was getting $100 a month under a special act of congress. G. A. R. posts rallied to support the common soldier. All previous reconstruction governors had been generals, but the G. A. R., at the height of its power, called for "Joe, Joe, Private Joe."

Fifer was nominated on the fourth ballot of the 1888 Republican convention. His opponents had been army officers. The Democratic nominee was a former general. Fifer's election was a landslide.

His administration, comparatively quiet, saw the start of the Democratic upswing that enabled John P. Altgeld to beat him in 1892.

Fifer supported the law which placed the Australian ballot system into effect in Illinois and said many times he was proud of his actions.

Wounds Troublesome

Fifer didn't enter later campaigns, explaining to friends that the old wounds were troublesome and that his health wasn't good. But he lived more than four decades longer, scoffing at illness and injury and receiving tributes for the keenness of his brain.

Appointed by McKinley and Roosevelt, he served seven years at Washington as an interstate commerce commissioner, resigning in 1905 because of ill health. Fifer's last public service was as a member of the state constitutional convention, 1920.

His daughter, Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, was the first woman to serve as a member of the state legislature.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. According to the studies made by Drs. Burgess and Cottrell, sociologists, a working woman is a much better marriage prospect than one who has never learned to earn her living. Of course many "society girls" and "social butterflies" make fine wives—but the "working girl" in the gumbo English of the rising generation of New Yorkers, is a far safer bet.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. It is extremely doubtful. Most of the experiments of psychologists seem to indicate that what we call "mental fatigue" is chiefly—possibly wholly—loss of interest. As Milton Wright points out, when you feel mentally tired from writing, figuring accounts or making executive decisions, if suddenly a fight or fire breaks out, you are instantly as fresh and alert as ever. Just watch a group of "mentally exhausted" men wake up when a pretty, dashing, engaging woman enters the room!

Answer to Question No. 3

3. They always are when you are learning a new skill or type of behavior, such as eating with your fork instead of your knife. You may stick your fork in your eye first. Just now I am learning the new typewriter keyboard devised by researchers of the Carnegie Foundation. It is the kind that even the beginner learns in one-third the old time—and learns far better, as a rule. But the very best habits I had on the old keyboard are among my worst handicaps on the new. Within a few weeks, however, my new good habits would handicap me if I should go back to the old keyboard. Habits are both an advantage and a handicap.

STREET IMPROVEMENT

Rochelle.—The South Main street surfacing project will start in a few days, the commissioner of streets and alleys, T. L. Schade, reported this week. Material bids will be opened August 12 and work will start soon after this date.

All day-labor will be used in the work except for the laying of the black top where skilled laborers will be employed. The final treatment of Main street from First avenue to the north city limits will be done next spring.

A letter from C. K. Willett, engineer employed by the city, was read to the council Monday night. Engineer Willett advised the commissioners that he had asked the state for $2544 for payment of material costs on the project. The state has allowed $6,000 for the work. The council gave Mr. Willett their approval.

An agreement between the state and city of Rochelle whereby the state agrees to help maintain the highways in the city was read. Under its terms, the state will pay the city $817.16 plus an additional 10 per cent for overhead expense. The money is used for street cleaning and repairs.

The council voted to approve the agreement and also passed by unanimous vote the weed ordinance which was given first reading the week before.

The ordinance, which makes it punishable with a fine to allow weeds to grow on property within the city limits or to pile rubbish on city streets, will go into effect 10 days after publication.

FARMERS' PICNIC

John Maxson, chairman of the recreation and sports committee of the farmers' picnic, has announced that his committee has drafted the largest program of sports ever to be presented at a farmers' picnic on Thursday, August 25th at Vaughn's grove. Cash prizes valued at several hundred dollars will be awarded the victorious entrants. The impressive list of events includes: Trap (not trap) shooting; horse shoe pitching, eight fast boxing bouts, races for all ages, all sexes, bottle filling, tug-o-war, husband calling, rolling pin throwing, potato race, hog calling, three baseball games, nail driving, and others.

A mammoth fire works display is being arranged by John P. Manning while F. Eckhardt is in charge of the afternoon and evening dance affairs.

William Kassill, chairman of the entertainment committee has been authorized to go to Chicago in the near future and secure nationally famous WLS radio talent for the program.

The various chairman of the committees are lining up their workers and rural friends can rest assured that when August 25 rolls around Rochelle will be prepared to stage a picnic for them that never has been equalled. This is one time in the year when Rochelle merchants entertain their farmer friends and patrons in appreciation for the patronage and favors extended them throughout the year.

H. N. Calhoun, general chairman of the picnic, is busy day and night with his workers making arrangements.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Attorney and Mrs. Fred E. Gardner are spending two weeks, on their cruiser on Lake Michigan.

Military Law Continues in Newton

Des Moines, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Whether the National Guard "army of occupation" will withdraw from Newton, Iowa, before the Maytag Washing Machine Company reaches an agreement with its employees' union became a question if timing today.

Union officials and company representatives announced plans to meet again to discuss a new contract next Saturday after a preliminary session here yesterday in which they said they merely "explored" the possibilities of settlement.

Major General Mathew T. Thiney, commanding officer in the Newton martial law area where the Maytag plant was opened under armed guard last week, expressed an opinion that "10 or 11 days" of additional military rule would be sufficient.

Reinstate Cop Who Killed Wife, Lover

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Police-man John F. Lewie, who slew his wife and her admirer when he found them seated in a car in the loop, June 8, has been reinstated to his rank of patrolman by Police Commissioner James P. Allman.

Lewie was exonerated yesterday by the police trial board. Previously a corner jury had exonerated him and the state refused to prosecute.

TO NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Wray Farver and sons, Earl, Robert and Donald have rented a residence property at Harvard, Ill., and have moved part of their household goods to that place. They will finish moving this week. Mr. Farver's trucking work is mostly northwest of Chicago and he will be able to be at home often by having his family residing at Harvard.

SATURDAY VISITOR

Arthur Shoop of Mokena visited here Saturday and was accompanied home on Sunday by Mrs. Shoop and the boys who have spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Moore.

PICNIC SUPPER

Thirty-two members and friends of the Friendship Sunday school class of the Methodist church enjoyed a picnic supper at Memorial park, Rochelle on Friday evening. Following the supper a short business meeting was held. Those attending report having had a fine supper and a very pleasant evening.

SCRAMBLE DINNER

A scramble dinner was enjoyed at the Wallace C. Clover summer cabin at White Rock near Grand Detour on Sunday by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bratton of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Frey of Cortland, Miss Muriel Yenerich of Earlville, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schabacker, Jr., of this place.

Skate at Dixon under the big tent. Every afternoon and evening. Private parties any night.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Ashton was honored by a short visit on Friday afternoon by a distinguished gentleman in the person of Cornelius Vanderbilt III who was traveling through here. Mr. Vanderbilt's identity was disclosed at the depot when he cashed a travelers check to pay for expressing a trunk to the West Coast. Of course our station agent, Wm. T. Jenkins received quite a thrill as also did Wallace Yenerich who while mowing a lawn directed Mr. Vanderbilt and his traveling companion to the depot.

Y. P. M. C. BREAKFAST

The members of the Y. P. M. C. of the Evangelical church enjoyed a breakfast at Griffith park on Sunday morning. Following the breakfast the regular meeting was held. Rev. P. O. Bailey had charge of the devotions and Miss Frances Kersten gave the lesson study in the absence of Frances Jennings who was ill at her home. The young folks had a fine breakfast and a most delightful outdoor meeting. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Mary Bauman and daughters of Columbus, Ohio, who are visiting at the Bailey home.

WHO AND WHERE

Mr. and Mrs. John Voss, Jr., and son, Elwood, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sachs. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sachs and family were Sunday afternoon callers at the Sachs home and were accompanied home by Mrs. Dora Sachs who has spent the past few weeks with her son, Fred Sachs and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanders and daughter Mary Beth of Rockford were guests at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ventler. The Sanders' son, Teddy, is making an extended visit at the Ventler home.

Mrs. George Zimmerman and daughters of Rochelle visited Chris Koch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Sunday afternoon. Other callers at the Walter home that afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Yenerich.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kaeker and family enjoyed Sunday dinner at the home of Mrs. Kaeker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shipper of Dixon.

They were taken to their homes in automobiles a happy but tired group of children.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE.

We have been handed several clippings from the Stillwater paper, concerning Roscoe D. Lahman who was born here July 17, 1892. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lahman who resided where Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lott now live.

He was graduated from the local high school and later from the Mount Morris college at Mount Morris. He then entered the business world as a merchant conducting a general store here where Earl Fish now has a store. Later he went to Iowa where he engaged in farming.

February 27, 1902, he was united in marriage with Miss Anna Warrick, a former Amboy girl and a former teacher in the local school. In 1918 the Lahmans went to Stillwater, Okla. to reside. He was a director of the First National bank, he was active in the business life of the community of which he was a part. He was a virile personality, energetic and interested in all forms of religious, business and social life of the community. He was a member of the Stillwater Presbyterian church and was an elder at the time of his death, which was very sudden as he sat reading to his wife at their home. Death came very unexpected.

"R. D. Lahman, who was 'Uncle Ross' to many of the youngsters in his neighborhood, was a leader in the business, social and church circles of Stillwater, but the children who knew him probably will miss this man more than any other group. 'Uncle Ross' and 'Aunt Anna', his wife, always kept their home open for the youngsters in their end of town. At Halloween their various great-nephews, great nieces and small friends had a habit of ending off the night's festivities by spooking the Lahman's white house. The spooking never lasted long, however, for inside the house there was inevitably a big tray filled with sweets. 'Uncle Ross' always did have a way with children. At an age when many have turned grouchy and built fences around their homes, he welcomed youngsters with a smile. Lahman had scores of other accomplishments, too many in fact to list here. 'Aunt Anna' plans to keep the house open. The 'bear den' and other contraptions will still be available to youngsters, but will never be the same without 'Uncle Ross.'" week's visit with relatives.

Miss Faith Finch returned home
last evening from Rochester, Minn., where she was at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Gilbert P. Finch, who has been dangerously ill. Mrs.
Finch submitted to three operations at the Mayo clinic last week, and from the latest reports is showing a marked improvement, which news her many friends throughout Lee county will welcome, hoping for her complete recovery.

Mrs. Nettie Clark of Oswego, Ill., who has been visiting her father, Peter Steder, 318 West Ev-

Sen. Norris Comes Out for Frankfurt-er for High Court

PENNSYLVANIA'S GAG LAWS HELD INVALID TODAY

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—
In an open letter to President Roosevelt, U. S. Senator George W. Norris (Ind.-Neb.) today urged the appointment of Felix Frankfurter, adviser to the President and a former professor of law at Harvard, as justice of the United States Supreme Court to succeed the late Justice Benjamin Cardozo.

The Nebraska liberal issued the statement from his summer home near here, to which he returned today with Mrs. Norris following a flying trip to Pond du Lac yesterday for medical attention after a chicken bone lodged in Mrs. Norris' throat. The Senator's wife had recovered fully today.

"There is no man now in the public eye who so fully represents the philosophy of government of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and his successor, Justice Cardozo, as does Frankfurter," Sen. Norris stated.

"Felix Frankfurter is the most outstanding personality to continue and carry out the judicial philosophy of these two great statesmen (Holmes and Cardozo). The common people of America have faith in President Roosevelt.

"He will perpetuate that faith if he places Mr. Frankfurter on the Supreme bench."

Arkansas Senatorial Candidates Dispute Over "Endorsement"

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 8.—
(AP)—A dispute over what constitutes a presidential endorsement developed today between two senatorial candidates today on the eve of the Arkansas biennial Democratic primary tomorrow.

Senator Hattie W. Caraway's
headquarters claimed Roosevelt favor in her drive for renominat-ation, but Rep. John L. McClellan said the president had made no endorsement in the Arkansas campaign. J. Rosser Venable, third candidate for the nomination took no part in the controversy.

Basis of the Caraway contention was Roosevelt's reference to her as "a very old friend of mine" during an Arkansas stop on his July transcontinental speaking tour.

The 42-year-old McClellan, 17 years Mrs. Caraway's junior, charged, however, that "my opponent diligently sought presidential endorsement and on the eve of the election that hasn't been forthcoming."

Lawyer in Harlan Case Shot Himself

Pineville, Ky., Aug. 8.—(AP)— N. R. Patterson, about 60, one of the attorneys for the defense at the recent Harlan anti-labor conspiracy trial, was in a critical condition at a hospital today from a bullet wound Dr. Charles D. Stacey said Patterson told him he inflicted himself.

Dr. Stacey said Patterson was "despondent." He said Patterson called him by phone from his home, where Dr. Stacey found him. He said the wound was directly Patterson's heart.

NEC REPORT TO GIVE PRESIDENT SPEECH SUBJECT

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The National Emergency Council will make public its report on economic conditions in the south Wednesday, the day before President Roosevelt makes two addresses in Georgia.

The timing of the report left little doubt that the survey of what the President has called the nation's "No. 1 economic problem" was strategically important to the administrations campaign to win over the entire south to Roosevelt policies.

The decree of this importance probably will be brought out either in Roosevelt's speech accepting a University of Georgia degree at Athens or in his remarks dedicating a rural electrification project at Barnesville.

Roosevelt will disembark from the U. S. S. Houston at Pensacola tomorrow. While at Warm Springs, Ga., Wednesday, he will have opportunity to go over the economic survey and select statements for possible use in his speeches.

It is considered certain that even if he remains aloof from specific struggles in the south he will campaign vigorously to win popular acceptance if his "liberal" political philosophy.

This viewpoint was regarded by many persons as being in the President's mind when he asked Lowell Mellett, director of the NEC, several weeks ago to make the economic survey. Mellett held a conference of 23 southern business men and educators representing 14 states.

The conference turned out a 17-point analysis of southern troubles, covering everything from vital statistics to absentee ownership of industry.

State Hospital

By G. E. Phillips
We are advised by one of our operators that Charles Meyer has been seen in his accustomed haunts with the gunny sack for which he is famous. We expect to hear of the opening of the watermelon season any day now.

All thanks to Charles Johnson for the superb blackberry cobbler he furnished each employee as reward to cottage A8 Saturday evening.

Dr. W. G. Murray, managing officer, was in Springfield Saturday on official business.

Edward Aschenbrenner has tendered his resignation, effective today, to accept a fine position in connection with the building of the dam and the Galena avenue bridge.

Dr. B. B. Newchiller has returned from his vacation and announced that he had tendered his resignation, effective Monday, August 15.
Dr. Newchiller tells us he is retiring to engage in private practice at Woodstock.

We record with sorrow the passing of "Albert," a snapping turtle that recently was captured by a party of A8 residents fishing at the river. After a short period of captivity in the cottage bathtub Albert was turned over to the hospital A working boys to rear again in the form of a succulent turtle stew.

An appeal has been made by Editor Demelan of the Cottage Visitor and his staff of assistants for more copy for their paper.
Everyone is asked to contribute any news that might prove interesting to the paper.

A card received by this column from Leon Aetcke, scoutmaster now at Camp Grant with the Illinois National Guard advises that he is having plenty of "good eats and lots of hard work."

Lester Hubbard began a ten day vacation Friday.

Through the kindness of the recreation department the boys in the recently organized polishing detail enjoyed a party and spread at the Scout room, Friday.

Eluding the horde of feminine well-wishers who had gathered to welcome him back, Joseph Peluso of the night force quietly returned to duty Friday.

In 1830 the total railroad mileage of the United States was only 23 miles.

MISSISSIPPI'S FLOOD CONTROL PLAN OUTLINED

Army Engineers Advance on Three Fronts to Control Water

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The war department's flood control experts are advancing on three fronts in their campaign to free lower Mississippi valley dwellers from the haunting fear of overflow.

One of its outstanding flood authorities recently described the curbing of the Mississippi valley's devastating torrents as a triangular problem.

Adequate control, he said, is primarily a question of:
1. Regulating tributary down-flow through reservoirs.

2. Confining the flow below reservoirs between adequate levees and speeding it up with cut-offs.

3. Providing floodways and other diversion channels to relieve stress at critical points and hurry
the water to the gulf of Mexico.

These are the things the army engineers are doing.

In tributary basins like those of the St. Francis, Yazoo, White, Arkansas and Red rivers they are building and planning huge reservoirs to store and release gradually enormous volumes of water which uncontrolled would go rampaging down the Mississippi main line channel and create terrific levee strain.

They are spending millions this year strengthening and reinforcing levees along the Mississippi river and its tributaries and dredging and shortening flowage channels to expedite safe flowage in the valley's middle and lower sections.

13 Cut-Offs Built

Since the 1927 flood 13 cut-offs have been built between Arkansas City, Ark., and Red river landing in Louisiana which have shortened the Mississippi river 115.8 miles and made it easier to maintain levee free board and shortened the time period of flood stress.

In the valley's extreme lower end in Louisiana the engineers are rushing completion of planned floodways to give the accumulated torrents representing drainage from most of the United States quick egress to the ocean.

One floodway—the Bonnet Carré —built after the 1927 flood—protects New Orleans through its ability to divert 250,000 second feet of water from the Mississippi's main stream into Lake Ponchartrain above the city.

Reservoirs planned or under construction to help the lower valley include the Wappapello in Missouri, the Sardis and Arkavulla in Mississippi, and the denison on the Oklahoma-Texas boundary on the Red river, and 13 in the Arkansas and White river basins.

Local communities got a "break" in connection with reservoir construction last session when congress abolished requirement for local contribution to such construction. The government must now meet all land and damage costs.

Some of the reservoirs will have hydro-electric possibilities, especially the Denison and the White and Arkansas basins projects.

A total of $31,000,000 has been set aside for lower Mississippi valley flood control from the $113,000,000 appropriated last session for nation-wide control work during the current year.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Christian Church—Bible school attendance yesterday was 197. The organized classes had the following reports: Young People, 39; men, 26; True Blue, 22; Upstreamers, 21;
C. I. C., 14; Progressive, 12.
Rev. Roy Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church of Atlanta, Ga., brought us a fine message in the sermon yesterday morning. He and his wife and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were here on a visit with home folks.

There was one addition to the church Sunday morning by letter.
The Young People's class will go to Lowell park this evening for a picnic lunch and class meeting at the shelter south of the ball park.

There will be a ball game preceding the lunch. Cars to leave the church at six. In case of rain the meeting will be held at the church.

The Ladies Aid society will have an all day meeting Wednesday.
The pastor will preach at Nelson Wednesday night 8:00. The appointment was shifted from Sunday night to Wednesday to accommodate several who were away over Sunday.

The Gideons, an organization of consecrated traveling men, will hold a field day in Dixon, Aug. 21, in interest of their Bible distributing program. A speaker will be at our church Sunday morning, that date.

Christian W. M. S.—"Problems of the Multitudes" was the program theme for Thursday's meeting of the Christian Missionary society at the home of Mrs. Charles Rice.
The pastor, Rev. J. B. Bennett, prepared the program, which included a discussion of the unemployment and liquor problems.

Mrs. J. A. Barnett, the society president, conducted the business meeting, and paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Ella Rhodes. Memorial cards were given to Mrs. Carl Kling, daughter of Mrs. Rhodes, to be sent to Mrs.
Rhodes' four sons. Favorite hymns of Mrs. Rhodes were played on the organ by Miss Goldie Giguos.

The pastor, the Rev. J. A. Barnett, gave the offertory prayer.
Mrs. Frank Gates led the devotional service, reading verses from Acts and John. Several of the group were asked to read quotations on "Brotherly Love."
Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rice and her co-hostesses, Mrs.
Gates. The next meeting is to be in the form of a group discussion of the home of Mrs. Carl Straw.

St. Paul's Lutheran—The Young Women's Missionary society of St.
Paul's Lutheran church will meet for a scramble supper at 6:30 P. M.
Tuesday at the country home of Mrs. Marie Wakely. Mrs. Gladys
Miller is to be Mrs. Wakely's co-hostess. The Misses Marie Moore and Mabel Stanley will present the lesson.

Methodist Board—The official board of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet at the church at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Grace Evangelical—Announcements for the week at Grace Evangelical church include:
Monday—7:30 P. M. Men's class monthly meeting; 7:30 P. M. Young People's Missionary circle monthly meeting; Tuesday—2:30 P. M. monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society at the church.

Wednesday—7:30 P. M. Mid-week prayer hour, two groups; 8:30
P. M. service choir rehearsal.
Thursday—7:30 P. M. monthly meeting of the Shepherd's class.
The Oakdale Evangelical camp at Preppent opens its 1938 session on Thursday evening and will continue over the next two Sundays.
Because of the camp meeting,
there will be only Sunday school services at Grace church on Aug.
14 and 21.

CIO INTERNAL WARFARE STILL THREATENS RIFT

Detroit, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The expulsion of four high officers of the United Automobile Workers of America and the suspension of a fifth failed to restore harmony today in the strife-torn C. I. O.
union.

The four former officers said in a statement they would seek a special convention of the U. A. W.
A. and appeal to the rank and file
"to clean up the real enemies of the union."

The union's executive board ex-

West Brooklyn Team is Turned Back by Dixon, 6-2

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS GAME HERE YESTERDAY

West Brooklyn Defense Went to Pieces in Sixth Inning

West Brooklyn came to town—in a body yesterday—and went home with a 6 to 2 defeat witnessed by 2500 persons at Reynolds field. A record crowd stood up in the blistering sun to watch these two teams battle for victory.

West Brooklyn scored one run in the first inning when Appier, the first man up, was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on a hit by Martinus. Hermann doubled, scoring Appier from second as the ball took a bad hop going to Martin.

This run looked like a mole hill turned into a mountain the way Knauer was pitching. This West Brooklyn star was going along in great style, allowing two hits, when he ran into trouble in the last of the fifth and the Knacks scored two runs on three hits and an error by Jones at second base.

Knacks Score.
In that inning Ole Prestegard singled out to left field and was forced at second by his brother. Flanagan singled, scoring H. Prestegard. Flanagan stole second and scored on A. Carlson's single, making the score 2 to 1 in favor of the Knacks.

The West Brooklyn defense went to pieces in the sixth when the Knacks scored 3 more runs on three hits and three errors.

Martin singled and was forced by Kuhn at second. Windmiller singled. O. Prestegard hit a fly ball to Hermann which he dropped—filling the bases. H. Prestegard singled over short, scoring Kuhn and Windmiller. Hermann made the throw to home to get Windmiller, the ball getting by Walters who then tried to get H. Prestegard going to second. The ball went to centerfield and Ole Prestegard scored on this play, making the score 5 to 1.

Dixon Scores Again.
The Knacks scored again in the seventh making one run. Grove dropped Martin's fly to left for an error. Martin went to second on a wild pitch by Knauer and scored on Martinus' error of a bad throw on Kuhn's grounder, making the score 6 to 1.

West Brooklyn got their last run in the ninth when Knauer doubled, Glaser doubled and Knauer stopped at third and scored on Jones' grounder to H. Prestegard, making the score 6 to 2.

No outstanding players can be selected from yesterday's game. All played heads up ball and were on their toes all the time. The pitching of Ole Prestegard, however, can not be forgotten. He did a great job on a steaming field. For his fine game at short, Ole's brother Harold also deserves a pat on the back and Art Carlson did a fine job in right field.

Knauer, for West Brooklyn, is one of the game's greatest sports. With his defense gone to pieces Knauer maintained his smile and worked all the harder.

Tied With Walton.
With Walton winning from Rochelle, 6 to 0, this puts West Brooklyn and Walton tied for first place and these two teams will meet at West Brooklyn on August 21 to decide which is the better.

The Knacks close their league games next Sunday when they play Rochelle there, but Manager Cummings has booked post-season games and the Dixon team will be back on home field August 21 when they play the LaSalle Merchants. Practice will be held Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

WALTON WINS.

In the Illinois State Baseball league Walton defeated Rochelle, 6 to 0, at Walton yesterday while the Dixon Knacks were trimming West Brooklyn.

TO CLINTON.

The Glasgow Tailors who trimmed the Black Farms here a few weeks ago have invited the local lads to Clinton for a return game. "This time," Manager Benson declares, "we win."

POST-SEASON AFFAIR.

At the close of the softball season the four top teams will play off in a round-robin affair to decide which has the best team. This event will follow the All-Stars game with the league leading California Market team.

STARS FELL ON WATTS.

Russ Watts, receiving for the Fulfs team last night, took a hard pitched ball between the eyes. Russ must have seen stars for a few minutes—and they weren't in heaven, either. But he took it standing up and played the rest of the game—behind a mask.

RAIN—NO GAMES.

Due to the downpour of rain today, the Airport diamond is drowned and by noon today couldn't be found with grappling hooks. There might be an unofficial swimming meet there tonight but Harold Schertner says there will not be any softball games. Everyone can go to bed early tonight.

POLLS TO CLOSE.

More ballots will be passed out soon at the games at the Airport park and voters are urged to fill them out, sign them and get them in before Friday night. The polls will be closed after the games this week and the All-Stars team will be announced early next week.

JOSLYN TOP MAN.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Joslyn left today for a vacation of a week on Lake Michigan and Mr. Joslyn takes with him the top position on the Dixon tennis ladder. In a challenged game Saturday afternoon Joslyn moved from Number 2 position to Number 1 when he defeated George Covert, 2-6, 6-3 and 9-7.

BLACK FARMS DOWNED.

The corn-canning Del Monte team of Rochelle played hosts to the corn-planting Black Farms on Friday night and sent the planters home with an 11 to 8 defeat. Manager Benson of the Black Farms says the Del Monte team will play here the first Sunday in September and the tables will be turned.

LATEST RETURNS.

Ballots for the All-Stars team and manager are continuing to pour into the office and some of them have not been recorded, but the latest check up shows the following results in the race for pilot of the stars: Wells, 13; Howard, 83; Newcomer, 1; Benson, 30; Moser, 9; Schertner, 92; Fazzi, 5 and Nicklaus, 2.

"WITTEB" FIELD.

Oscar Witteb is responsible for the new keystone at home plate at the Airport and just the other day installed some base sacks for first, second and third which were initiated by the girls last night during the Dixon-Nelson too-doo. Aiding Oscar with the new base markers, was Larry Poole, an ardent softball fan. With all these new improvements the Airport unofficially becomes "Witteb" field.

Last Friday evening the Junior Legion Pirates defeated the Tigers.

7 to 0, in a game called at the end of the third inning because of darkness. There are about two weeks of the regular schedule left. There will be a play off between the two highest teams and a series of three games will be played for the championship. Tonight—if it doesn't rain—the Indians will play the Cardinals at 5:30 o'clock.

MAY PROTEST.

Manager Fazzi of the Medusa softball club was in this morning to report that he may protest the game played Saturday night when the California Markets won 9 to 6. In the seventh inning Cookleys home run was discounted by the third base umpire who claimed he didn't touch the base. Fazzi's protest may be based on the claim that the third base umpire was changed during the game without making a report to him.

IT WAS HOT.

For the first time in history, so far as we know, a game was held up at the end of the third inning while the players went for a drink. This happened during the steam-heated affair between the Dixon Knacks and West Brooklyn yesterday afternoon at Reynolds field. The heat was terrific and the players, on both sides, were running around with their tongues hanging out. Getting a toe hold on the mound Ole Prestegard, pitching for the Knacks, dug a hole in the hill. As Pitcher Knauer, West Brooklyn star, came to take over the duties about mid-game, he called to Ole: "If you are going to dig a well out here, I wish you'd put water in it."

There were other interesting week-end developments, notably the sudden dismissal of Mickey Cochrane as Detroit manager and the elevation of Coach Del Baker to his post Saturday night and Buck Newsom's unsuccessful "iron man" pitching effort for the St. Louis Browns, but they aren't likely to have much effect upon the pennant races.

Collapse of Giants.
More to the point were the collapse of the Giants and the way the Yanks won. The Giants made only ten hits all told, including two homers by Mel Ott. And the usually reliable Carl Hubbell was belted out in the seventh inning of the nightcap for a second decisive defeat with a 1-2. Red Ruffing, erratic and troubled with a lame knee lately, returned to hold the Indians to two hits while Lou Gehrig, whose hitting hasn't been of the best, virtually settled the game when he hit his 18th homer with Joe Dimaggio aboard in the fourth.

The Tigers, with Baker at the helm, walloped the Boston Red Sox, 7-3, as Hank Greenberg socked his 38th home run from two aboard in the first inning. Cincinnati's Reds, with a chance to oust the Giants from second place by winning a double-header from Brooklyn, lost two tough ones instead, 11-10 and 6-3, and finished tied for third with the Chicago Cubs, who first trimmed the Boston Bees, 7-4, then yielded, 5-0, to Jim Turner's five hit flinging.

Had 5 Run Lead
The Reds had a five-run lead in the first inning of the opener, but Johnny Vander Meer gave out five walks in the same inning and the Dodgers eventually won with three runs in the ninth. In the excitement Babe Ruth objected so strenuously to a decision that he was "bounced" for the first time since he became a Brooklyn coach and later Manager Burleigh Grimes followed him.

Newsom couldn't even draw a crowd, only 5,610 turning out for his double effort. He beat the Athletics in the opener, 5-3, giving up eight hits, fanning nine and receiving the support of two homers by Harland Clift. The A's knocked him out early in the nightcap, however, and went on to win, 8-5.

Washington and the White Sox split a pair of slugfests, Chicago taking the first, 14-5, and the Senators the second, 12-5. Claude Passeau pitched the Phillies to a six-hit, 6-3, win over the St. Louis Cardinals, but the gasheaters took a rain-shortened nightcap, 5-1.

Another Track Meet.
In the nightcap game patrons sat back and sighed, "Ho-hum—another track meet" as the Black Farms held Fulfs to a shut out while they romped the bases for 16 runs. Never did more than four Fulfs men face the pitcher in any inning and off the hurling of Beyer and they connected for only two hits. Watts got a triple and R. Bush a single, but nothing happened to bring them in. Beyers struck out 14 and walked none.

Fulfs used Jensen until the fourth inning when he was replaced by Metzen who stepped aside in the seventh to give the mound to Chiverton. The farmers took six hits from Jensen, seven from Metzen and one from Chiverton. Six men were walked.

The only highlights of the game were the two home runs, one by Sweeney with one man on and another by Anderson with none on. Add to the highlights the swell pitching job by Beyers and you have the whole affair in a nut shell.

Evanston Golfer To Defend Title
Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., recent winner of the St. Paul open, began the defense of his Illinois Professional Golfers association title today over a 36-hole medal play route at the Bon Air Country club. In the event of a tie, an 18-hole play-off will follow.

The field included Ky Laffoon, Tommy Armour, Dick Metz, Horton Smith and Jim Foulis from Chicago, Gunnar Nelson from Rockford, Elmer Biggs, Peoria, and Harry Adams, Elgin.

Prize money aggregating $1,000 was at stake.
There are 17,000 motion picture theaters in the United States, with an average total attendance of 18,000,000 nightly.

YANKS STRETCH THEIR LEAD TO FIVE AND HALF

Make Clean Sweep of Series with the Indians

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

One reason why the old argument as to what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object never has been settled is that one or the other always fails to live up to advance notices.

That's the case in the recent "crucial" tilts in which the New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates, currently the fastest-moving forces in major league baseball, met up with the clubs that were supposed to be the strongest barriers ahead of them, Cleveland and the New York Giants.

The Yankees, by routing the tribe 7-0 yesterday, made a clean sweep of the series and stretched their lead to 5½ games. The Pirates, after losing the opener, scored a decisive double victory yesterday, 5-1 and 13-3, to gain a 6½ game margin.

There were other interesting week-end developments, notably the sudden dismissal of Mickey Cochrane as Detroit manager and the elevation of Coach Del Baker to his post Saturday night and Buck Newsom's unsuccessful "iron man" pitching effort for the St. Louis Browns, but they aren't likely to have much effect upon the pennant races.

LEGION ALL-STARS LOSE TO STERLING 8 TO 5 YESTERDAY

The Junior American Legion All-Star team journeyed to Sterling yesterday afternoon and went down to defeat, 8 to 5. Dixon still had plenty of errors, making 5 misplays—all of which counted in the scoring. The local lads looked good at the plate, which is a great improvement. Sterling is booked to play a return game here August 28. A good turn out is expected.

DICK DURKES OF DIXON GOES TO SECOND ROUND

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Don Armstrong of Aurora, Ill., the defending champion, held a place in the quarter-finals of the "Week-End" Chicago District Amateur Golf tournament today, but could do nothing more about it until Saturday when 18-hole match play will be resumed.

Tournament officials said the meet was split over two week ends to accommodate the field. Advancing with Armstrong in yesterday's two match-play rounds were three other non-Chicagoans—A. H. Anderson and Jerry Frost of Kenosha, Wis., and Sid Salomon of St. Louis.

Armstrong will resume his title defense against Chicago's Johnny Kutilla, who eliminated Chick Evans, veteran amateur and holder of the district title eight times, in the first round, 4 and 3. Other pairings listed Anderson vs Art Doehring, Chicago; Salomon vs Frost and Jack Hoerner, medalist from Chicago, vs. Chuck Becka, Chicago. Jimmy Frisina, of Taylorville, Ill., engaged in the two closest matches yesterday, defeating Fred Damaske, Chicago, one up in the first round and losing to Salomon by the same margin in the afternoon. Other results included:

First round—Armstrong defeated Bob Baldwin, Chicago, 5 and 4; Dick Durkes, Dixon, defeated Hoe Franco, Chicago, one up; Anderson defeated Paul McDonald, Waukegan, 6 and 5; Art Floberg, Rockford, defeated Steve Williams, Jr., Evanston, Ill., one up; Hoerner defeated George Kinsman, Oconomowoc, Wis., 7 and 6; Salomon defeated George Victor, Chicago, 6 and 4; Arnold Minkley, Aurora, defeated Chuck Boyvis, Chicago, one up; Frost, Kenosha, defeated A. N. Anderson, Chicago, 6 and 5.

Second Round—Armstrong defeated Durkes 2 and 1; A. H. Anderson, defeated Floberg 2 and 1; Frost defeated Minkley, 2 and 1; Hoerner defeated Bob Bertsch, Chicago, 3 and 2.

COVERT-JOSLYN; SMITH-QUICK TO PLAY IN FINALS

In the sweltering heat of yesterday morning the Dixon city tennis doubles tournament got underway, leaving only the finals to be played off next Sunday.

The matches began at nine o'clock at the high school courts when Covert and Joslyn took an easy victory from Cies and Krug, 6-2 and 6-2.

Buxton and McNamara found the going a little tougher when they took on Bovey and Wilhelm as their customers and won 6-2 and 7-5. Another easy victory was the one by Snow and Wienman over Rosenberg and Gillan, 6-2 and 6-2.

Kearney and Rusk put up a stiff fight before giving over the courts to Smith and Quick, 8-6, and 6-3 to end the first round.

In the semi-final matches Covert and Joslyn continued their way into the finals by trimming Buxton and McNamara 6-love and 6-1.

In an afternoon contest Smith and Quick fought a bitter contest to take victory from Snow and Wienman, 1-6, 7-5 and 6-2.

On Sunday the team of Covert and Joslyn will meet Smith and Quick for the championship in a two-out-of-three battle. The winners of this match will be awarded mounted silver figures of a tennis player and runners-up will receive silver cups. Consolation matches have also been planned. Trophies are now on display in the windows of the Boynton-Richards store.

Queen Mary Regains Record for Speed

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Her powerful engines churned the British liner Queen Mary to a new westbound transatlantic speed record of three days, 21 hours and 48 minutes.

Commodore Robert B. Irving announced the big ship had covered the 2,907 miles from Bishop's Rock to Ambrose Lightship at an average speed of 30.990 knots. The boat reached Ambrose Lightship at 11:32 P. M. (C. S. T.) last night.

The Queen Mary, regaining the record it lost a year ago to the Normandie, clipped one hour and 14 minutes from its French Line rival's mark of three days, 23 hours and 7 minutes, set in Aug., 1937.

ning. The Black Farms wore their new uniforms for the first time and they presented a pretty picture but we are sorry to state they did not win the game. The score was Ladd All Stars 11 and Black Farms 2. The second game was not played because of the threatening storm. Many out of town ball fans were in Walnut to witness the game.

PERSONAL EVENTS.

Dolly Jean Stickle is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Wickie of Princeton.

Mrs. John Bischoff of Perkins Grove is visiting her husband's people, Rev. J. B. Bischoff and family of Red Oak while Rev. Bischoff has charge of a boys' camp at Naperville, Ill. Rev. John Bischoff is pastor of the Perkins Grove Evangelical church.

Miss Elaine Guther and brother Francis will go to camp meeting Aug. 11th at Naperville, Ill., which is held under the auspices of the Evangelical church and convenes for ten days. Miss Elaine will be the pianist at all services and her brother has charge of the calls for all services. Their parents will go to Naperville on Sunday and remain until the close of the conference.

Roger Willy and Bobby Bolbock are attending the boys' camp at Naperville.

Cecil Goss and Elaine Guther were Princeton callers on Saturday.

Mrs. Elmer McElvania was brought home from the Princeton hospital on Wednesday where she had been for observation. She is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Sergeant and little daughter of Galesburg came Saturday to spend the week end with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sergeant.

LEE NEWS

Mrs. Melvin Maakstad.

Rev. and Mrs. Rich and Louise left Monday morning for Rensselaer, Indiana, to spend this week with relatives of Mrs. Rich. Mrs. Sturlo went with them as far as Shelby, Ind., to visit relatives.

Lavera Edwards spent this week with her sister, Mrs. Alvin Jacobson in DeKalb.

William Mullins went to Savannah, Missouri, Monday night to visit his wife who is at the Nicholas sanitarium there. Mrs. Mullins is expected to come home next week.

Little Irma Cutts is staying with Mrs. Raymond Johnson in DeKalb and Miss Goldie Applegate in Sycamore this week.

Miss Marie Prestegard of DeKalb is vacationing this week with relatives in Lee.

A barn and straw stack was burned to the ground Wednesday evening at about six o'clock on the Jacob Jacobson farm four miles southwest of Lee on route 30. Just the threshers were finishing up for the night something coming through the blower ignited the straw stack and set in ablaze.

The burning straw blew into the barn and set it afire also. The threshers removed most of the contents of the barn except the hay. Chemical tanks were brought out from Lee and the fire department called from Waterman but they could do nothing but prevent the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown. The barn was partly covered with insurance.

Virginia Parker and Irene Perkins are staying from Wednesday until Sunday with Virginia's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Countryman at Rochelle.

Will Vosburg and Will Fleming left Thursday on a business trip to Barnesville, Minn.

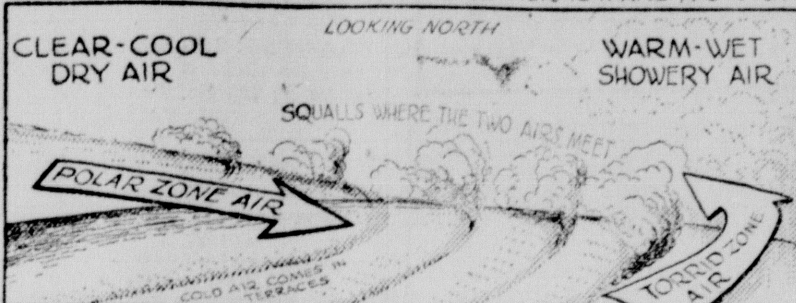

The Brooks Parkers are painting their house.

George Jacobson is having a vacation this week from his duties at the Larson store in Shabbona.

Jack Prestegard had the misfortune to get his hand caught in the elevator conveyor, when he was

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

HOW COLD AND HOT AIR RUN TOGETHER TO MAKE A STORM

IN WINTER THE ACTION IS INTENSE. IN SUMMER IT IS MUCH MORE VARIED.

Summer Air Less Dense than Winter Air

In winter the action of weather is intense, in summer it is much more varied. Howling gales are common in winter but hardly ever occur in the summer time. Why is this?

Cold air in winter is more elastic than hot air in summer. Air is a thin fluid. It may seem odd to you to imagine air and wind as having a nature like molasses candy but there is no essential difference except that air is a thinner fluid. When you heat sugar syrup it becomes less viscous than when cold, that is, it flows easier. Air in summer flows easier than in winter.

Weather waves are fluid projectiles. They are set in motion by the gravitational action of the sun and moon and behave exactly like water might when vigorously thrown out of a bucket across the floor. The more viscous a fluid is, the more energy of motion it can take up. In winter, when the air is more viscous than in summer, it takes up more motion from the same forces of the sun and moon and moves farther and harder under the same gravitational thrusts. This makes winter weather more vigorous than summer weather.

In summer the winds blow softly, storms are gentle and spotty in character, and move more erratically than in winter. Rain is especially apt to come with so little driving force that they are easily deflected by surface features such as hills, forests and river valleys.

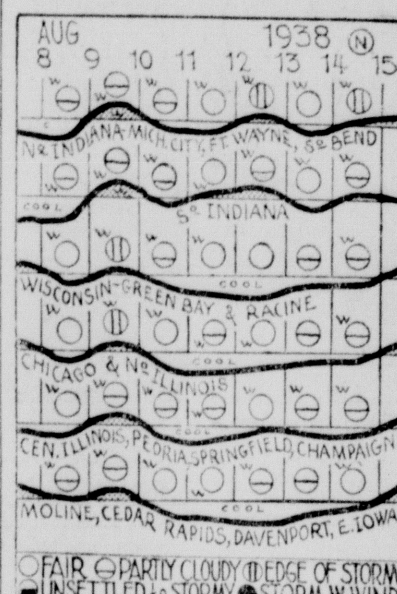

Watch the next blue sky weather, come in, pushing storm clouds on ahead of it. Blue skies are caused by a thrust of cold air from the polar regions driving like a series of wedges into wetter and warmer air in front of it. You will have no trouble in summer in seeing the series of cloudy squall lines that occur as each mass of cold air meets the warm. In winter these squalls would all blend together into one big intense storm.

WEATHER QUESTIONS

Question—How were gravel and sand deposits formed and why are they more numerous in some sections than in others? (Wm. S.)

Answer—Sand and gravel deposits are formed by running water. They are usually laid down where a stream flows into a sea or lake, less often on the sides of streams. In places where streams were formerly numerous there is much sand and gravel. In places where streams were rare these deposits are absent.

Question—How was our Solar System evolved? (E. R. F.)

Answer—It is believed that the solar system was formed by the passage of a star near our sun, which raised great eruptive tides in the sun, which later became planets. But the exact details of how this was done are unknown.

Question—Do you think there is life on the planet Mars? Have astronomers made out the canal-like markings on the planet to be rivers? (D. F.)

Answer—There seems to be plant life on Mars. The nature of the canals is still a mystery. If they are artificial they denote that a high intelligence created them but until we know exactly what they are it would be premature to discuss possible Martians with minds like ours.

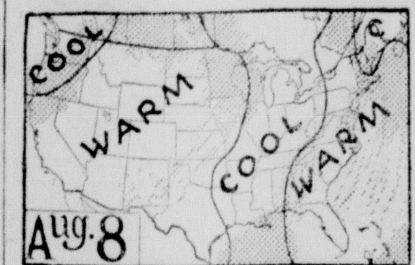

Question—Will Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin be wetter or drier in the fall than they are now? (A. M. H.)

As Forecast by
Prof. SELBY MAXWELL
Noted Meteorologist

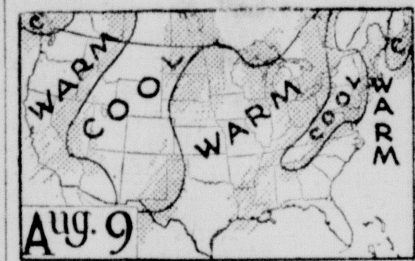

Answer—It is probable that we have seen the heaviest of the rains for the season in these states.

MOSQUITOES, WEATHER AND HEALTH

Weather affects our health and comfort vitally, and many of its effects come via swarms of mosquitoes which follow the rain. Some mosquitoes are merely pests, some are vicious biters, and a few are deadly menaces to health. All of them like rainy weather. Professor Selby Maxwell has prepared an interesting paper on the effect of weather on mosquitoes, which you will find very interesting and which you may have free with the compliments of this newspaper. Address your request to Professor Selby Maxwell, care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped 3c self-addressed envelope for your reply.

EMBARRASSED LORDS FIND HORSEHAIR IN WOOLSAK

London—(AP)—Britain's famed woolsock, historic seat of the lord chancellor, who presides at meetings of the house of lords, has been restuffed with wool from England, Scotland, Wales and the British dominions.

The Woolsock is a big square bag, without arms or back and covered with red cloth to form a cushioned ottoman.

Members of the house of lords got a nasty shock recently when they learned the Woolsock had long been stuffed with horsehair.

In Queen Elizabeth's reign parliament banned exportation of wool, then Britain's staple commodity. Woolsocks were placed on certain seats in the house of lords as a reminder.

There are ads of special interest in this evening's Telegraph.

Brain Twizzlers

By
PROF. J. D. FLINT

It seems to be a particularly hard time for contortionists to earn a good living. Whether or not the public has tired of contortionist acts is hard to tell but certain it is that all contortionists have trouble making ends meet. For this reason Jellybean Jones was delighted to have made a bet with him that there was one bit of contortion Jellybean couldn't do. The bet was snapped up by our hero and he asked what the problem was. "Oh, it's simple," said the man, "all you have to do is place your hand some place on yourself where your other hand can't touch it." Jellybean figured it out, can you?

Answer to Saturday's Twizzler.

The average speed for the round trip was not twenty-five miles per hour, it was twenty-four miles per hour.
